GOLDEN WEDDING

Of R. T. Burns and Wife

Celebrated at Their Home in Louisa on Wednesday Evening.

July 8th.

Only one married couple in a thousand lives to see the fiftieth anniversary of its wedding day, so we are told by statistics. This rare pleasure has fallen upon a Louisa pair, and permit us to say in the outset that never was a similar blessing more worthily bestowed than when the span of life was extended to and beyond this good hour for Mr. Rowland Tiernan Burns and Mrs. Caroline Hatcher Burns.

On the 8th of July, 1858, these two persons were united in marriage by Rev. Hiram P. Walker, of the M. E. Church South.

For some time past Mr. and Mrs. Burns had intended to observe the 50th anniversary of that day, but the fact that the health of their daughter, Mrs. C. H. Williamson, of Waukesha, would not permit her to attend, had caused them to abandon their plans. Only a few days ago their other daughters, Mrs. L. S. Johnson and Mrs. Mary Horton, decided upon the happy idea of preparing a celebration without the knowledge of their parents. So well did they carry out their plans that Mr. and Mrs. Burns were astonished by the completeness of the affair.

The celebration of this notable and delightful occasion began with a dinner. And such a feast! Many things are essential for the construction of a good dinner—and for its enjoyment. There was nothing lacking on this memorable July 8. Ample means, liberal hearts, skilled cooks and perfect taste insure a perfect table, and excellent appetites and full appreciation awaited the summons to a table spotless in linen and glittering with crystal and silver. These sat down and enjoyed the elegant repast: Mrs. W. S. Harkins, Mrs. Sallie Davidson, Mrs. Frank Hopkins, Mrs. H. Fitzpatrick and Miss Josephine Harkins, all of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Nannie Johns Hatcher, of Harrold, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Burns, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Wroten, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Burns, Mrs. Mary Burns Horton of Louisa, and Mr. Fred Johnson, of Ironton, O. At the head of the festal table sat the venerable couple, serene and happy. None enjoyed the pleasure of this Golden Half Century more than they, and this keen enjoyment was reflected in the faces of their delighted guests.

While the company stood waiting for the signal to be seated Mr. Burns turned to the noble woman who for these fifty years of wedded life had sat ever at his side to share his joys and his sorrows, to cheer, comfort and console with her ministrations, and in a voice shaken with emotion and feeble with age, but with much of the music of the past, sang a happy paraphrase of a verse of "When You And I Were Young, Maggie." To one present the occasion suggested these lines from the melodious Scottish bard, himself named Burns:

John Anderson, my Jo, John,
We've climbed the hill together;

And many a cheerful day, John,
We've had with one another.

Now we must totter down, John,
But hand in hand we'll go,

And sleep together at the foot,
John Anderson, my Jo.

Eight grandchildren took possession of the dining room when the older folks had adjourned. They, too, enjoyed with the healthy zest of the young the substantials and "good-ies" helped to them in generous portions. Some of them were too young to know exactly what a golden wedding truly meant, roast turkey, fried spring chicken, ices and cake speak in a language easily understood.

Among the kindly messages received by Mr. and Mrs. Burns were two of peculiar and tender interest to them. One was a letter from Col. and Mrs. Jay H. Northup, the other a letter from their son-in-law, the Rev. Lester Williamson, of Waukesha, Wisconsin. These were absent

Rev. O. F. Williams.

The law of the M. E. Church South places a limit of four years upon the continuous service of a pastor at one place. For this reason and this alone are the people of Louisa resigned to the departure of Rev. O. F. Williams and family, which will necessarily take place after the close of the present conference year, in September next.

With due deference to the many good men who have served this charge we say that none has filled the bill quite so well as Rev. Williams. He is full of energy and his tireless efforts to keep up the various duties of his responsible position have brought the results that may be had only by hard work, intelligently directed. The church has made decided progress during the four years of his administration, both spiritually and materially.

As a preacher he is forceful and practical. His sermons consist of the plain Gospel, applied to everyday life. The standard held up for the Christian is a high and progressive one, but not impossible and wholly ideal. Rev. Williams is a man of fine common sense, excellent judgment and good executive ability, is intensely in earnest and thoroughly in love with his work. Personally, he is genial, kind, optimistic. The regret caused by his departure will not be felt and expressed alone by the membership of his own church, but by the people of Louisa in general. Mrs. Williams will also be greatly missed. She is a woman of fine character and is in full sympathy and accord with the work of her husband.

CITY COUNCIL.

Regular Session Tuesday Night Made Several Orders.

The city Council met in regular session last Tuesday evening with all members present.

Reports of all officers received and approved. Claims allowed for work on streets, and salaries of officers for six months paid.

The condition of street lights was discussed and the attendant was ordered to clean and repair the lamps at least once every two weeks and to keep the lamps in good condition.

The marshal was ordered to enforce the ordinance requiring the streets and sidewalks to be kept free from obstructions of all kinds. All persons heretofore ordered to build sidewalks are directed to begin work at once, or the Improvement Committee will let the work to the lowest and best bidder and collect from the property owner.

The walk from the head of the grade to C. B. Ross' corner was ordered to be put into good condition.

The members of the Council agreed to make no more agreements of any kind, for anything whatever, outside of council meeting.

There being sufficient funds on hand an order was made to pay off one school bond and thus save from paying poll tax.

After cussing and discussing everything and everybody the meeting adjourned.

Bise Ball.

The second contest between business men and professional men ball clubs took place on Thursday of last week. It is sufficient to say that the professional men won again. The score is unmentionable. The business men hope that no one will be so unkind or impolite as to inquire about the score.

The professional men are considerably excited over the report that G. A. Nash, manager of the business men's club, was in Cincinnati and Lexington this week negotiating for the services of a pitcher and catcher which he intends to spring on his opponents at the third game.

THE FOURTH

Was Largely Attended.

Cornerstone Laying and Speech of Mr. Langley the Big Feature.

Louisa's Fourth of July was a big success. Although the day opened with threatening weather and maintained a similar appearance most all the time the crowd came just the same. The clouds served to protect the people from the hot rays of the sun and added greatly to the comfort of all. Hundreds of men, women and children came from every direction, making an aggregate attendance that ran into thousands.

The forenoon was taken up with a parade, athletic exercises, and contests of various kinds, interspersed with music by the brass band.

After dinner the chief event of the day took place. This was the laying of the cornerstone of the fine new building to be erected by the Kentucky Normal College on the six acres of choice land contributed by the city of Louisa.

The Masonic order being an organization founded by builders, was asked to take charge of the ceremonies. Through the local lodge the Grand Lodge of Kentucky was requested to honor the occasion with its seal of approval and to send one or more officers to conduct the exercises. The Grand Master was unable to attend and he deputized Hon. H. P. Chenoweth, of Maysville, Grand Senior Warden to fill the place. Invitations were sent out to lodges in this territory and a number of visiting Masons were here. About 150 were in the line of march.

The I. O. O. F. kindly accepted the invitation extended to it and a large delegation marched to the college site and helped to do honor to the important occasion.

At one o'clock the lodges took up the march from their lodge rooms to the college grounds headed by the band. A stone appropriately carved had been provided and placed on one corner of the foundation recently completed.

The Masonic ritual contains a complete and very appropriate ceremony for such an event as this and it was well carried out by Mr. Chenoweth. He tried the stone with level and square and applied the corn, wine and oil as directed by the ritual. A small metal box was deposited in a receptacle carved in the stone. This box contained a bible, a list of the lodge officers participating, a register of names of all persons who cared to sign during the forenoon, &c.

After the conclusion of these ceremonies the crowd returned to the court house square to hear a speech from Congressman John W. Langley, of the Tenth District. Mr. Langley was introduced by Hon. G. W. Castle in a brief and appropriate address. He called attention to the fact that Mr. Langley was a Big Sandy boy who had risen by his own efforts to a place of prominence in the Nation.

Mr. Langley was given a hearty greeting by the multitude that gathered about the speaker's stand. His speech was listened to with the closest attention throughout, and when about to close there were requests from persons in the audience to continue. We have never seen a crowd give a more attentive hearing to a speaker than did this one. This fact in itself is a strong testimonial of the speaker's ability.

His address included the subject of the college and Independence Day, education, and the Big Sandy Valley and its people. In the limited time taken by him he could devote only a few minutes to each theme, but so well did he handle the subjects that the interest of his listeners did not lag for a moment.

The committee on arrangements is congratulated upon the selection of Mr. Langley as the orator of the day.

The exercises of the day closed with the awarding of prizes in the contests that had not been previously settled.

As Others Saw Us.

The Fort Gay Leader has the following to say about our 4th of July: "The Fourth of July was celebrated with considerable eclat at Louisa, and a crowd numbering possibly 2,000 men, women, children, babies and dogs from surrounding country mingled and rubbed shoulders with the Louisians. Fort Gay added some charm to the occasion by a large turn out. The program as previously arranged was carried out to a finish. The country Jake was there with his red head, stand up collar lying flat on his shoulders soiled with the Fourth of July ooze, and his blue bandanna floating from the rear of his pantaloons—yes, he was there (from Yatesville) rubber-necking and goo-gooing the girls and old maids. Grandpa and granma were there full of patriotic spirit. Everybody had a good time except those who were overburdened with "young uns" they just sweltered and melted. There was plenty to eat and drink, some of the enterprising merchants furnishing ice water by the tubs."

Wedington-Dawson.

On last Friday evening on the west end of the bridge, Henry Wedington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wedington, was married to Miss Ross Dawson, daughter of William Dawson. After the wedding service was over the happy couple, with a number of friends, repaired to the home of Mrs. Henry Wedington, Sr., grandmother to the groom, where they partook of a sumptuous supper. Leader—Rev. H. B. Hewlette performed the ceremony.

GOOD ROADS

In Hardin County Are Being Made at Nominal Cost.

The following article from the Elizabethtown News should prove interesting to Lawrence county people. The citizens of that county waked up on the road question a few years ago and Hardin county has since become one of the most prosperous counties in the State.

The News says:

Any one who has ridden much about Hardin county in the last few weeks was undoubtedly struck with the very fine grading and the splendid condition our dirt roads have been put in. They are well rounded up in the center and extra good drainage on both sides. Road Commissioner Brown has really this spring and summer done about the best road building we have ever seen in the county.

The long wet spring was very much against the work, but it has been done thoroughly in spite of that fact, many of the roads being gone over with the grader as many as three times.

Altogether about 400 miles have been graded, covering nearly all of the dirt roads of the county, and these will be graded as soon as the ground is softened by a rain. In addition to the dirt roads about three miles of turnpike and one mile of gravel road have been constructed.

The work has been not only done better than we have ever seen it, but it has been done economically. The entire expenditure has not exceeded $4,500 besides the rock and gravel. Commissioner Brown has left on hand out of the annual road budget close to $15,000 for new turnpike roads and for repairing the old pikes. To this county fund there are a number of individual subscriptions on special roads which will swell the pike fund to very near $20,000. At the end of the road building season Hardin county under the intelligent direction and fine executive ability of Commissioner Brown will have made the most progress of any year since road construction began in earnest in the county.

We hope during this fall to see the road drag put into general use by the farmers and our next year turnpikes constructed along the lines laid down by the Federal Government experts, which includes what we have not at present, a steam roller.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. D. Wallace left Wednesday for Hartford, N. Y., to spend a month with relatives.

CONVENTION

In Session At Denver.

Will Nominate Bryan for the Presidency. No Decision as to Vice President.

Amid scenes of great enthusiasm the first session of the Democratic National Convention was held Tuesday at Denver. Following the speech of Theodore Bell, of California, the temporary chairman, who for an hour expounded in eloquent manner the position of the Democratic party on the leading questions at issue, the committee were formed and the convention adjourned out of respect to the memory of former President Grover Cleveland.

On last Friday after a special train left Louisville for Denver, bearing five of Kentucky's "Big Six" and a large number of other prominent Democrats. Ollie James went around via Lincoln, Neb., to confer with Bryan. Beckman, McCreary, Painter, Haldeman and Mayo were on the special. On the rear of the train was J. C. C. Mayo's special car which he invited several friends to share with him. Mrs. Mayo went along, as well as a number of other wives of delegates. The Mayo car was supplied with everything that could be thought of for the comfort of the ladies, even to fifty pounds of fine chocolate candy. The dispatches state that the trip of 48 hours was made without accident and was most enjoyable. The Mayo car will take its guests to other points in Colorado after the convention.

The Kentucky delegation held a harmonious meeting and organized by electing Ollie M. James chairman. Urey Woodson was unanimously chosen National Committeeman. J. C. C. Mayo's special car which he invited several friends to share with him. Mrs. Mayo went along, as well as a number of other wives of delegates. The Mayo car was supplied with everything that could be thought of for the comfort of the ladies, even to fifty pounds of fine chocolate candy. The dispatches state that the trip of 48 hours was made without accident and was most enjoyable. The Mayo car will take its guests to other points in Colorado after the convention.

The Kentucky delegates have the finest quarters in Denver, at the Brown Palace Hotel, and Urey Woodson reserved for the ladies two of the choicest boxes in the hall for the use of the Kentucky ladies.

Ollie James is attracting much attention. He was chosen to second the nomination of Bryan and there was quite a sentiment for him for Vice President.

Up to this time the vice presidential nominee is an unsettled problem. Judge Gray, of Delaware, could have it by saying "yes" but he refuses to do so.

John T. McGowen won out over Joe Chilton in the organization of the West Virginia delegation.

The platform will be telephoned to Mr. Bryan at Lincoln as each paragraph is completed, so as to secure his approval or suggestions. They will expedite the matter of the platform adoption.

Telegrams poured in upon Henry Watterson to attend the convention. He was offered the use of a special train, but he thought best to decline. He is preparing to make the flight of his life for the ticket.

The opposition to Bryan amounts to nothing and his nomination on the first ballot is absolutely certain.

A Denver dispatch says:

Three members of the Kentucky delegation who have made a decided impression here are John Sargraves, of Johnson county, the alternate for J. C. C. Mayo, of the Tenth district; C. W. Kavanaugh of the Eighth congressional district, and Col. Tom Stuart of the Tenth district.

Mayo is one of the delegates from the State-at-large, and called upon his alternates to cast his vote as one of the delegates from the Tenth district. Dr. Kavanaugh was one of the delegates from the Eighth district at the St. Louis convention in 1904, and is regarded as one of the ablest members of the delegation.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. D. Wallace left Wednesday for Hartford, N. Y., to spend a month with relatives.

Jake Rice Married.

The following is from the Catlettsburg Tribune tells all we know about the marriage of Jake Rice, a native of Fallsburg, this county, but now a Huntington business man.

"Here's a secret the Ironton Ironmonger told us, and said not to tell, so you mustn't say a word:

Sh! don't ever breathe it to a soul for the parties most interested don't want a thing said about it. Jake Rice and Mrs. Mollie Barton, a nice looking couple from Huntington, were married at the Ironton House Monday evening shortly after ten o'clock by Rev. Harold Cooper. In the afternoon John Schachleiter received a telephone message from Mr. Rice asking him to request Probate Judge Dovel to be at the Court House after supper as he would be here after a marriage license. Mr. Schachleiter complied with the request and was also present at the wedding. After lunch at Schachleiter's Mr. and Mrs. Rice left on the late train for home."

She Wins A Pony.

Little Miss Goodwill McClure, of this place, daughter of Prof. J. B. McClure, has received a letter stating that the count in the pony contest has proceeded far enough to show that she has won a pony in the contest which has been running for several months. We have mentioned the matter in the NEWS from time to time. The contest was conducted by a farm paper at Chicago.

We are glad to learn of the success of this little girl. The task was not easy, but perseverance won, as it always does.

At Cincinnati last Thursday bids were opened on the work of constructing the Tug river dam. The following report is from the Cincinnati Enquirer:

Va., as follows: The Ohio Construction Company, Evansville, Ind., $109,220; Mason and Hangar Company, Richmond, Ky., $125,320; Miller Bros., North Vernon, Ind., $113,770; Advance Sand & Construction Company, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, $126,095; W. Methodists.

A sect of Christians founded by John Wesley, so called from the fact that the name was applied to Wesley and his companions by their fellow students at Oxford on account of the exact regularity of their lives and the strictness of their observance of religious duties. The religious movement which resulted in the foundation of this sect began at Oxford in 1729, the chief leaders besides John Wesley being his brother Charles and George Whitefield.

The first general conference was held in 1744, and the Methodists were constituted a legally corporate body in 1784. Their doctrines are substantially those of the church of England.

The appointment of a minister of the body to any place is always for four years.

There is in addition to the ordained ministers, lay preachers, deacons, trustees, and stewards.

The body is governed by an annual conference having at its head a president and secretary, whose term of office last but for a year. In each district the ministers hold semi-annual meetings, the chairmen being appointed by the conference.

There are also quarterly circuit meetings of ministers and lay officers. The supreme and legislative and judicial power is vested in the conference, to which the half-quarterly and quarterly district and circuit meetings are subordinated.

The number of members at Wesley's death was 76,968; but there are now said to be in the different parts of the world above 28,000,000 adherents.

The number in the United States census of 1890, 4,589,287 members. Various secessions have from time to time taken place from the original body, which though differing as to points of church government generally agree as to doctrine. The chief of these bodies are the Calvinistic Methodists, which originated in a difference between Wesley and Whitefield regarding the Calvinistic doctrines; they have been organized into these denominations, Lady Huntington's connection, the Whitefield Methodists and the Welsh Calvinistic Methodists. The Methodists new connection founded in 1797-98 by Alexander Kilham.

Primitive Methodists founded by two lay preachers, Hugh Bourne and William Clowes in 1808-10. Bible Christians founded by a Cornish local preacher named Obryan, Wesley Reform Union and United Methodist Free churches originating in the Wesleyan Association of 1836, with the subsequent additions of the protestant Methodists of 1828, and the Methodists from the parent connection in 1850-52.

The Methodists are especially numerous in North America forming numerically the leading denominations in the United States.

The Methodist Episcopal church is the oldest and leading Methodist body in America. Since 1845 it has been divided into two branches, the Methodists of the Southern States forming what is called the Methodist Episcopal church South. They number by census 1,209,276; church property $10,775,362.

The Methodist Protestant the oldest of the non-Episcopal Methodists branches, was organized in 1830, it has 141,989 communicants; church property, $3,683,337.

The Colored Methodist Episcopal Church organized in 1870 has 23 annual conferences, with 129,383 members.

The Wesleyan Methodist connection of America organized in 1843 has 16,492 members.

The Free Methodists number 22,110 members, organized in 1860.

THE condition of Representative James S. Sherman, Republican nominee for Vice President, is causing alarm to the party leaders. It seems improbable that he will be able to take part in the campaign.

THE Republican papers evidently think the only good Democrats are the dead ones. They are now saying very complimentary things about Grover Cleveland, whereas they called him all sorts of bad names while he was alive.

THE Ninth congressional district Republicans met and formed a permanent organization. J. D. Bennett, of Greenup county, the present Congressman, was elected chairman; John D. Littlejohn, of Carter county, secretary, and T. A. Field, of Ashland, treasurer.

CALEB POWERS is preparing to go upon the lecture platform. His income has stopped since he was pardoned and he will make further efforts to gather money from the gullible and misguided public by keeping himself in the lime-light. Through the assassination of Goebel he won notorious fame and ample fortune. Entering prison without a cent he came out with $85,000.00 in bank, after having spent over $100,000.00 trying to defeat the ends of justice. It will be interesting to see how much more of him the hero (?) worshippers will pay for. If Caleb should find the lecture platform too tame and bloodless and unprofitable he might get a contract with a circus to ride in the cage with the other hyenas.

Destroys
Hair Germs

Recent discoveries have shown that falling hair is caused by germs at the roots of the hair. Therefore, to stop falling hair, you must first completely destroy these germs. Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, will certainly do this. Then leave the rest to nature.

Recent discoveries have also proved that dandruff is caused by germs on the scalp. Therefore, to cure dandruff, the first thing to do is to completely destroy these dandruff germs. Here, the same Ayer's Hair Vigor will give the same splendid results.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

in body, but their messages bore a spirit of love and friendship warm and beautiful.

Later the elegant house was thronged with hosts—that's the proper word—of friends bidden to the afternoon reception. All brought words of congratulation and felicitation, and in these words was a wealth of love and kindly regard which touched very deeply the hearts of him and her who so hospitably greeted them.

The toast offered at the close of the elegant dinner will meet with a hearty endorsement from all who know Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Burns. It was in substance, that they may have many more years of wedded happiness; and the toast was drunk in pure, clear water, symbolizing by its clearness and purity the lives of this much esteemed couple.

A large number of friends were invited to the evening reception from 7 to 10 o'clock, and this proved to be an auspicious occasion, closing the happy day in a "blaze of glory," if this expression be allowed.

The local members of the bar attended in a body and paid a beautiful tribute to Judge Burns, their oldest member. They had previously held a meeting at the office of Hon. G. W. Castle, and Mr. Castle was chosen as spokesman. Among other things he said:

"Mr. and Mrs. Burns, the bar of this county has chosen me to say to you that they come to congratulate you upon the 50th anniversary of the happiest event of your lives. We feel that this celebration is a great happiness and pleasure to you, and it is indeed a great pleasure for us to join in it.

"Mr. Burns, we want to thank you for the universal kindness and courteous treatment you have shown towards all of us, individually and collectively, in the practice of the law. We owe you a debt of gratitude which we can never repay for the high and moral example you have always set before us. You have been a beneficent to us, and your examples have been such that they, if copied, would and have led us to the highest plane in the practice of the law. Both in public and in your home your life has been such that the world has been bettered by your passing through, and your influence has wrought great good to all who have had the fortune to come in contact with it. The good you have wrought and are still sending out shall not cease when the Master shall call you hence, but it shall live on.

"We now wish you many happy returns of this event and we pray that you may be spared to the bar and country for many years yet, that we may feel the noble influences of your life and that we may have your assistance in all the walks of life.

"Again allow me to congratulate you both and wish you many happy returns of this day."

Mr. Burns made a response that was full of emotion and that brought tears to the eyes of those who heard his tender words. In closing, however, he called forth smiles and applause by saying that if his life were to be lived over he would be a lawyer and would marry Caroline again—if he could get her. And no one who heard him doubted the sincerity of the beautiful sentiment thus expressed about his good wife. He has always been known as one of the most devoted of husbands.

Later in the evening Mrs. Emily Walker Herr read an article appropriate to the occasion, and it was greatly appreciated by all who heard it. Mrs. Herr is here from Lexington visiting her sister, Mrs. Nash. They are daughters of the late Rev. Walker, who officiated at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Burns. It is considered a coincidence that they should have been present, inasmuch as Rev. Walker left this part of the State soon after the event referred to, and the daughters were never here until recently, when Mrs. Nash and Mrs. Shipman came with their husbands to locate and engage in business. Mrs. Herr has attained a high standing in literary circles and her treatment of the theme of this golden wedding was, of course, very beautiful.

Mr. Burns' response was clothed in the elegant language and eloquent terms which are always at his command. The inspiration of the occasion gave unusual zest and power to his words.

A colored servant planned a charvari, and with the aid of several of the grand children turned loose at the psychological moment a very familiar combination of noises made by pounding on tin pans and the like.

Mr. Burns very promptly took the bride by the hand and led her out where the urchins could see her, and then gave them money to buy a "treat."

Of all the many guests at the Golden Wedding there was but one who witnessed the marriage fifty years ago. At that time the family of Capt. M. Freese lived in Prestonsburg, and the oldest daughter, now Mrs. G. W. Wroten, then a girl of five or six years, attended the wedding and buttoned the gloves of the bride.

Numerous appropriate gifts were sent in by friends. The decorations of the house were in keeping with the golden idea. On the table were the figures '58 and '08.

The entire affair was a great success and the devoted daughters are being congratulated upon their work.

County Roads.

Being a tax payer and a user of the public roads I notice that the Fiscal court has ordered the letting of a contract for two bridges across Big Blaine. The roads leading to these points are almost impassable and when the county authorities are approached as to the condition of the public roads the immediate response is that financial conditions of the county is such that they can not repair the roads. I would like to ask how they can afford to build bridges if there is no money to repair the roads. The bridge is a good thing, but what use is the bridge if you can't get to it. You may start from Louisa to any point in the county and within one mile of the city limits in any direction you may go come in contact with mud holes that are dangerous to try to go over. Take the road from Louisa to Blaine, the one that is the most used, and there are at least one hundred bad places in the road that could be put in good shape for a small sum of money. And it is equally as bad in any other direction you may go in the county. Why not first build a decent road and then the bridge? The money that it will cost to build these two bridges will put the county roads in passable condition and will accommodate every man in the county, while the bridges will only accommodate a few. I believe in doing what will be the most benefit to the greatest number of people. Crotzien.

A LETTER

From a Big Sandy Boy Who Is Now Soldiering in The Philippines.

Camp Bumpus, Leyte, P. I., May 21.—Editor Big Sandy News, Dear Sir: Having always taken an interest in reading the Big Sandy News while at home, and thinking that you might like to hear from an old subscriber who is now soldiering in the Philippines, I take pleasure in sending you a brief description of my trip over here.

When the order assigning us for duty in the Philippines was published our regiment was stationed at Vancouver Barracks, Wash.

We left Vancouver for San Francisco, in a special train consisting of three sections. We were placed three in a section in the tourist sleepers, and were fed on corned beef (tough Willie,) beans, tomatoes, hard tack and coffee until we arrived in San Francisco, January 4, 1908.

We were given liberty in the city of the Golden Gate, and I for one was only too glad to take advantage of this chance to see the ruins the earthquake of 1906 had wrought.

A great deal has already been done to repair the havoc; but even yet, after leaving the business part of town, entire streets many blocks in length are in ruins.

The arch of some once magnificent home may be the only landmark now standing, or it may be that only a mass of fallen brick and twisted pipe remain to make its mute appeal to the casual observer. After seeing the desolation of the city, and noting the cheerfulness of the people, one cannot help but admire the native sons and native daughters for their pluck.

I visited the famous Golden Gate Park, which is said to be the most beautiful of its kind in the world, and I came away believing this to be true. There are miles and miles of shady walks and drives winding about through an ever-changing garden filled with the most beautiful of nature's most precious gifts. Magnificent specimens of the sculptor's art are to be seen in the little nooks and crannies where one least expects to find them. Every known plant, tree and herb that will thrive in the warm California sunshine is to be found growing here, and the combination of these many tropical and temperate zone plants leads one into believing himself in the garden of Eden. The city as a whole, is one of the most beautiful it has ever been my fortune to see.

We left San Francisco for Manila, Philippine Islands, via Honolulu, T. H. and Guam, January 6, 1908. Before we were outside the Golden Gate some of the lads were sea sick, and a few of them remained so during the entire trip. No, I was not sea sick; though several times I begged them to throw me overboard so that my agony would be ended.

Life aboard the ship was much the same, the only thing to liven us up being the evening concerts given by the regimental band, and it was much too crowded for us to dance.

Taking the sea sickness and the monotony of the life into consideration it is not to be wondered at that we were glad when we arrived in Honolulu, and were turned loose to do as we pleased.

This island city is in my estimation one of the most beautiful in the world. With the exception of the business blocks there are few two-story buildings. Nearly all the homes are pretty little cottages.

These little cottages are built in the center of large and well kept grounds, in which are to be found all the beauties of tropical verdure. The streets are broad and shady, well paved and resmbly a drive in a beautiful park more than the streets of a modern and enterprising city.

There are many quaint little pleasure resorts along the beach, and the surf bathing is not to be excelled by any of the famous coast resorts in the States. I visited the extinct volcano, at Diamond Head, which the superstitious natives hold in awe and reverence. After climbing to the top of the volcano's sides one can look down into the crater which resembles a gigantic basin scooped or dug in the earth. Needless to say I was sorry when the time came for us to leave this wonderful tropical city and begin life anew on the crowded transport.

We left Honolulu January 15, 1908, and arriving in Guam January 29, 1908; but left there almost immediately arriving in Manila February 3, 1908.

We were ashore for only a short time here so could see but little. The streets are extremely narrow and dirty, as they are in all Spanish cities. The buildings in the ancient walled city that old district boundaries according to the 1908 census will exist, that the great many of them have already been present trustees should arrange the

The altars of these are vacate their office as soon as the all masterpieces of art, some of them being made entirely of gold and ivory, with an altar railing of the August 31, 1908. See Section 4. The same materials. I would say that the new officers will take full control about the only good our stop in Manila did us to give us a chance to stretch our legs.

We arrived here in Camp Bumpus, in the month and two days after our departure from Vancouver. The post is as the head of your county. Bear a little over a mile from Tacloban, in mind these two things at once: the capital of the province of Leyte. First, it is a great opportunity you and is close beside the beach. Our have to redistrict your entire quarters are made entirely of bamboo; second, your influence should be good and nipa, and full of spiders, count for much in the selection of centipedes and lizards, with an occasional snake to make things interesting. These huts, for they are nothing more, are cool in the night time, but terribly hot during the day.

Every Wednesday we take a practice march of about 20 miles into the surrounding country, leaving the post about 4:00 a. m., and usually return before the intense heat of the day commences. On these marches we carry a shelter half, blanket, mosquito bar, tent pins, tent pole, tent rope, haversack, canteen filled with water, one hundred rounds of ammunition, and our rifle with bayonet. The other days of the week we drill all mornings, with the exceptions of Saturday and Sunday. The afternoons we usually have to ourselves.

While I should like to be back on the Big Sandy, as my home is at White House, Johnson county, Ky., I cannot say that I regret my trip over here for it has certainly been a profitable experience. Variety, they say, is the spice of life, and over here we get both the variety and the spice. With best regards to the Big Sandy News and the people on Big Sandy River, I beg to remain,

Most sincerely yours,

New School Law.

Supt. Crabb has issued another pamphlet about the new Kentucky school law. From it we take the following paragraphs:

Second—The County Superintendent, the County Judge and the County Attorney shall divide the county into educational divisions, and they shall subdivide each educational division into school subdistricts. Boundaries are to be based on white children, but whenever these boundaries are fixed by these officers above named the lines of white and colored districts shall coincide.

Third—Paragraph 2 above indicates that the officers named are the absolute authority to fix and change the educational division. But section 19 of the new law directs that the County Board of Education shall have full power to establish new school subdistricts and to change the boundaries of school subdistricts.

The framers of the act, however, had no intention of ultra-rigid boundaries. A wise provision of the act see Section 17 carefully, has reference to consolidation of school subdistricts.

Two or more subdistricts may unite for the needs of these white children.

Sixth—About questions concerning election of trustees:

(a) Trustees are elected by ballot. Boxes are to be used and the secret ballot is to be used as at all regular election.

(b) The County Clerk furnishes ballot boxes. Procedure should obtain as in all regular elections except as specifically directed in the new law.

(c) The following blanks will be furnished by this office to the County Superintendent.

1. Certificate of trustee-eligibility.

2. Petition of trustee-nomination.

3. Trustee's election—returns.

Seventh—Graded common schools shall retain their present boundaries and be exempt from the provisions of the new act. See Section 2.

Eighth—Bulletin No 3 directs that the school session of 1908-9 will not be affected by the new law.

Home Circle Column.

A column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle.

Where is my boy tonight? You are his father or mother, and if you desire to lay your hand on your boy within five minutes any night, you wouldn't know where to find him. He is on the street somewhere or at the railroad depot jumping on freight trains, but just where, with whom, in what engaged, what plotting or executing for shrewd ones who plot for him, you could not tell for the life of you. He has a good home and he ought to be there at nights. He desires to be somewhere else with the boys, and you lack the moral courage to insist that he shall be where he should be. You hope that he will escape the pitfall, but you know the chances are against him. Why don't you do the boy the kindness to keep him home at nights? The time will come when he will thank you for doing it or reproach you for not doing it.

In nine cases out of ten, man's will not be a success if he does not bear the burdens of his childhood. If the fondness or vanity of father or mother has kept him from hard work; if another always helped him out at the end of his row; instead of taking his turn at pitching off he stowed away all the time—in short, if what was light always fell on him, and what was heavy about the same work on some one else, if he has been permitted to shirk until shirking has become a habit, unless a miracle has been wrought his life will be a failure, and the blame will not be half so much his as that of his weak foolish parents. On the other hand, if a boy has been brought up to do his part, never to shirk his responsibility, or to dodge his work, whether or not it made his head ache, or soiled his hands until bearing burdens has become a matter of pride, the heavy end of the log his choice, parents as they bid him goodbye may dismiss their fears. The elements of success are his, and some time in some way the world will recognize his capacity.

It is recorded that when the plague broke out in the little village of Italy, the children of one house was taken first. The parents watched over them but caught the disease they could not cure. The whole family died. Then across the street, in the home of a poor laborer, who was absent all the week, returning only on Saturday to bring his scanty earnings, the disease next began. The wife felt herself attacked in the night by the fever. When morning dawned she was worse, and before night the plagued spot showed itself.

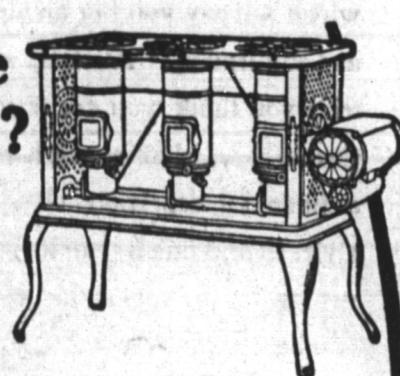

She remembered the terrible fate of her neighbors. She knew that she must die, but as she looked at her dear boys, she resolved not to communicate death to them. She therefore locked the children in the bedroom and snatched the bedclothes, fearing they were already impregnated with the dreadful germs, and with which enabled her to conquer her feelings and leave home with all she loved—to die! Her oldest boy saw her from the window. "Goodbye, mother," said he, with a tender voice, wondering why she left so strangely. "Goodbye, mother," repeated the youngest child, stretching his little hands out of the window. The mother paused. Her heart was drawn toward those little ones, and she was on the point of rushing back. She struggled hard, while the tears rolled down her cheeks, at the sight of her helpless babes. At length she turned from them. The children continued to cry. "Goodbye, mother," until their little voices died away, and the mother with an anguished heart, entered the house of those who were to bury her. In a short time she died, and with her dying breath commanded her husband and children to the care of heaven. Was ever other love like that? Only once when for the plague smitten race it hung in bleeding mercy on the cross. Exhibitions of a mother's love, though not so striking as this, are by no means rare. Live where she will, and how she may, and how she will, "a mother is a mother still, the most holiest thing a live."

INTEGRITY OF WOMAN.

Of all the evils prevailing among young men we know of none more blighting in its moral effects than the tendency to speak slightly of the virtue of women. Nor is there anything in which young men are so thoroughly mistaken as the low estimate they put on the integrity of women—not of their own mothers and sisters, thank God, but of others, who, they forget, are somebody's mother and sisters.

As a rule, no person who surrenders to this debasing habit is safe to be trusted with any enterprise requiring integrity of character. Plain words should be spoken on this point for the evil is a general one, and deep rooted. If young men are sometimes thrown into the society of the thoughtless, they have no more right to measure other women by what they see of these than they would to estimate the character of honest and respectable citizens by the developments of crime in our police courts.

Let young men remember that their chief happiness in life depends upon their utter faith in women. No worldly wisdom, no misanthropic philosophy, no generalization, can cover or weaken this fundamental truth. It stands like the record of God himself—for it is nothing less than this—and should put a seal upon lips that are wont to speak slightly of women.

WHAT MONEY WON'T DO.

Money is a powerful factor nowadays—

It will buy a position in the world—but it can't buy the breeding necessary to the upholding of that position.

It will buy the good things of life—but it can't buy the appetite to enjoy them.

It will buy superb clothes—but it can't negotiate for the proper knock of wearing them.

It will buy a wife—but it can't buy a woman's love.

G. Tom Hawkins, one of the proprietors of the Pike county Republican, is disappointed and mad about Butler and Bowling withdrawing from the race for Commonwealth's Attorney. He charges that Johnson county dictates the Republican politics for Eastern Kentucky, and demands that the committee get together and call off the primary. Tom doesn't like primaries anyhow.

the misfortune of his house being burned at his new home near Chehalis, Wash.—Pikeville Republican.

At Catlettsburg on July 4th, Jacob Dilgard, 42, a well known restaurant keeper and bar tender, was found sitting on the seat in the toilet room at the Alger House, dead, about six o'clock, the body reclining against the wall, and a large pool of blood on the floor about the feet.

After examining the body the jury heard three or four witnesses and from the testimony adduced it was decided that the man came to his death as the result of a hemorrhage from an old ulcer in a varicose vein in the right lower limb. He had been dead perhaps an hour when discovered.

A ten year old son of John Arthur was released from the Virginia Reform School near Richmond about two months ago and put aboard a train with a ticket to Wayne but yet has failed to reach his destination. In a letter from Superintendent Evans in charge of the school, the father was informed that a ticket was procured for the boy and enough money furnished to defray all necessary expenses and that he started on his way home. Letters to relatives of the family in Virginia and West Virginia and to the heads of police departments in the different towns where the boy might have gone have failed to bring any information of his whereabouts.—Wayne News.

Friday night Mrs. German Rice was found dead in bed at her residence in Catlettsburg. Mrs. Rice was afflicted with epilepsy, which rendered her subject to fainting spells, and on Friday night, after retiring, this faintness came upon her, the result proving fatal. Mrs. Rice was a young married woman, of very reserved disposition. Mr. and Mrs. Rice had been residents of Catlettsburg about three years, living very quietly and exclusively. They had no children, and no relatives in the city. Mrs. Rice was formerly Miss Roberts, of Paintsville, from which town her father came immediately on receiving the news of his daughter's sudden death. Mrs. Rice's remains were taken to Paintsville Saturday evening.

Deadly carbolic acid taken by mistake for medicine caused the death Saturday evening of Hal. C. Manley, a rather prominent young man, of Rutledge, Tenn., who has for some time been making his home with his brother, W. T. Manley, of Catlettsburg.

Manley drank the contents of an ounce bottle of the drug and died within 15 minutes afterwards, without ever uttering a word. He seemed to be unconscious from the moment he swallowed the drug.

The young man was in his room when his brother and his wife returned to supper after spending the afternoon up town where the sports were in progress. They had not been there long when they heard a muffled cry from the room where the young man was. Running in, Mr. Manley reached the door just in time to see his brother fall to the side of the bed. An empty vial labeled carbolic acid told the story.

He had, according to his brother's story, been drinking for several days past but had drank very little on Saturday and was trying to sober up. It is Mr. Manley's opinion that the young man took the carbolic acid by mistake and mistook it for the medicine he always took when leaving off the whiskey.

W. T. Manley is road manager for the Gordon Portrait Company, and Hal worked for the same concern under the supervision of his brother. The remains were taken to Williamson cemetery for burial.—Tri-bune.

The Board of Prison Commissioners has granted a pardon to William L. Osborne, Johnson county, manslaughter, 21 years, received at prison in 1905.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Physically, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a case of tiny little nerves that really is at fault. These nerves, in the heart, are called, or Heart Nerves—simply named, and very hard to find. These nerves are very important, giving power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without them the heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have trouble, and the liver, and the brain.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, debilitating, suffering heart disease. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this great, great medicine—was then directed to these weak and failing heart nerves. It is made, of course, to help the heart nerves; it does real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong, strong heart strength, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

GOOD CLOTHES

Do Not Make the Man, But

You are mainly judged by appearance. If you dress shabbily, you effect a lack of refinement, taste and worth. Do not foolishly think it is economical to wear an out-of-season suit because your friends in the business and social world do not approve that kind of economy. A good suit of clothes is an investment which will pay you big dividends in prestige, respect and admiration. All these are worth having and the trifles you think you are saving by hanging on to a thread-bare, shabby suit is really a loss. In spite of a financial depression clothing is better in quality, style, fit and finish than it ever has been. Take advantage of the reasonable, economical prices which obtain here and dress well. It pays in the long run to have a good wardrobe. Do not be an exception.

Come into our store when you are in need of clothing which counts for something in quality. There is distinction to our clothing and every garment is a paragon of excellence. We can supply your needs in furnishings. Try us if you would have entire satisfaction.
